

SOUTH INDIA · COMPLETE TRAVEL GUIDE

Tamil Nadu

Living temples, the deep south coastline and cool Nilgiri hills — Tamil Nadu is India's most complete pilgrimage-and-heritage circuit.

BEST MONTHS	FROM AHMEDABAD	IDEAL DURATION	VEG & JAIN FOOD	GOOD FOR
November to February for the plains and temples; March–June and September–November for Ooty/Kodaikanal	Direct flight Ahmedabad → Chennai, about 2 h 15 m; Madurai, Coimbatore and Trichy are usually one-stop	6–9 nights	Naturally vegetarian — South Indian temple-town food is largely veg by default; Gujarati thalis available in Madurai and Chennai	Pilgrimage-focused families, senior parents, heritage and temple architecture interest

Tamil Nadu is where Gujarati families go for temples that are still in daily worship on a scale nothing back home matches — Meenakshi at Madurai, Ramanathaswamy at Rameswaram, Brihadeeswarar at Thanjavur, Ranganatha at Srirangam. The state rewards a slower pace than Kerala: distances between towns are longer, the heat on the plains is real for most of the year, and the temples themselves demand time — long corridors, big crowds, and rituals that are worth understanding before you go rather than rushing through.

For Ahmedabad families the appeal is specific: this is a pilgrimage trip and a heritage trip at once, it suits three generations because most of it is done by car and on foot at temple pace, and Madurai and Chennai both have Gujarati and Jain vegetarian food if you know where to look. Add Ooty or Kodaikanal at the end and you get genuine hill relief after days on the hot plains. We run this as a standalone Tamil Nadu trip or combined with Kerala for groups with 10+ days.

What to see

Meenakshi Amman Temple, Madurai

A living temple city within a temple: 14 gopurams, the thousand-pillar hall, and the evening palanquin ritual at 9:30 pm when the goddess is carried to Lord Sundareswarar's shrine.

Ramanathaswamy Temple, Rameswaram

One of the twelve Jyotirlingas, famous for its 1,200-metre pillared corridor — the longest in India — and the ritual bath at 22 theerthams (wells) inside the temple complex.

Brihadeeswarar Temple, Thanjavur

A 1,000-year-old UNESCO World Heritage Chola temple; the 66-metre vimana is capped by a single 80-tonne granite block, still not fully explained by engineers.

Kanyakumari

India's southernmost tip, where the Arabian Sea, Bay of Bengal and Indian Ocean meet; sunrise and sunset over water from the same beach, and the Vivekananda Rock Memorial by ferry.

Pondicherry

The French Quarter's tree-lined streets, Auroville, and a genuinely different pace from the rest of Tamil Nadu — a good soft landing or soft ending to a temple-heavy trip.

Srirangam, Trichy

The largest functioning Hindu temple complex in the world by area, with seven concentric walled enclosures (prakarams) dedicated to Ranganatha.

Mahabalipuram shore temples

7th–8th century Pallava rock-cut temples and the Shore Temple, a UNESCO site 55 km south of Chennai; also home to Arjuna's Penance, the largest bas-relief in the world.

Ooty and the Nilgiri Mountain Railway

A UNESCO World Heritage toy train from Mettupalayam or Coonoor, tea gardens, and relief from the plains' heat in botanical-garden surroundings.

Getting there from Ahmedabad

Fly: IndiGo and Air India fly Ahmedabad–Chennai non-stop daily, about 2 h 15 m. Chennai (MAA) is right for Mahabalipuram and Pondicherry. Ahmedabad–Madurai, Ahmedabad–Coimbatore and Ahmedabad–Trichy are usually one-stop (via Chennai, Bengaluru or Mumbai), typically 4–6 hours door to door.

Train: The Ahmedabad–Chennai route takes about 32–36 hours depending on the train (e.g. Navjeevan Express); Ahmedabad to Madurai or Kanyakumari runs closer to 35–40 hours. Sensible only for travellers who want the journey itself, not as the main way to get south.

Within Tamil Nadu: a private car with driver is the norm and the only practical option with elders, luggage and temple-hopping. Highways between major towns (Madurai–Rameswaram, Trichy–Thanjavur) are good and fast; the Kanyakumari and Ooty approach roads are slower and winding.

Getting around. Everything in this guide is done by private car with an English- and Hindi-speaking driver who travels with you for the whole trip — essential given the drive lengths between temple towns. Autos work for short hops within Madurai's old city and Pondicherry's French Quarter. The Nilgiri Mountain Railway toy train (Ooty–Coonoor–Mettupalayam) is a scenic add-on, not day-to-day transport, and needs booking weeks in advance in season.

When to go

SEASON	MONTHS	WHAT TO EXPECT
Best (plains and temples)	November – February	Dry and pleasant, 22–30°C on the plains. The best window for Madurai, Rameswaram, Thanjavur, Trichy and Kanyakumari. December's Margazhi month brings extra temple crowds and festivals.
Northeast monsoon (coast)	October – December	Chennai, Mahabalipuram, Pondicherry and the eastern coast get their main rain from the retreating (NE) monsoon in this window — expect overcast days and occasional heavy showers, unlike Kerala's June–September pattern. Interior temple towns (Madurai, Rameswaram) are less affected.

Hot	March – June	35–40°C on the plains and very hard on seniors and children during midday temple visits — plan early morning and evening darshans only. This is exactly when Ooty and Kodaikanal are at their best, 15–22°C, and busiest with domestic tourists.
Southwest monsoon (hills)	June – September	Ooty and Kodaikanal get their heavier rain in this window, though it's milder than Kerala's monsoon. September–November is a good secondary hill-station season with fewer crowds than April–June.

Permits, rules and packing

No permits needed anywhere in Tamil Nadu for Indian nationals. Dress codes are enforced at every major temple: no shorts, no sleeveless tops, and men are often asked to remove shirts or wear a dhoti at inner sanctums (available on hire at the entrance, ₹20–50). Some temples, including parts of Meenakshi and Ramanathaswamy, restrict non-Hindus from the innermost sanctum — signage marks the boundary clearly, and our guides brief mixed-faith groups in advance. Auroville's Matrimandir interior needs an advance online booking, not a permit, but slots fill up so arrange it before travel.

What to pack

- Light cotton clothing for the plains — it stays warm November to February too
- A light jacket or shawl for Ooty/Kodaikanal evenings (12–15°C) if the hills are on the itinerary
- Comfortable slip-on footwear — temples require bare feet and you will remove shoes often, sometimes at the outer gate
- A shawl or stole for women, and a spare dhoti-ready outfit for men, for stricter temple sections
- Umbrella or light raincoat if travelling October–December, especially on the coast
- Sunscreen and a hat — temple courtyards are open stone and can be scorching by mid-morning
- Motion-sickness tablets for the Ooty ghat road and the Kanyakumari–Trichy long drive

Veg and Jain food

- South Indian vegetarian food is naturally vegetarian by default — idli, dosa, pongal, sambar and rice-based meals need no special request, which makes Tamil Nadu one of the easiest states for a strict-veg Gujarati group.
- Madurai and Chennai both have Gujarati thali restaurants and North Indian options; smaller towns like Rameswaram, Thanjavur and Kanyakumari rely on good South Indian vegetarian hotels, which we pre-select for cleanliness and consistency.

- Jain travellers should ask specifically for no onion, garlic or root vegetables — most temple-town restaurants can do this on request, and we confirm it with the hotel in writing for every booking.
- Try the temple prasadam where offered (Rameswaram and Palani are known for it), filter coffee everywhere, and Tirunelveli halwa as a specific regional sweet worth the stop.

What it costs

Indicative per-person costs on twin sharing for a 6–7 night trip including flights from Ahmedabad, private car, hotels, breakfast and dinner. Actual quotes depend on dates, hotel choice and group size; longer driving days (Kanyakumari–Trichy, Pondicherry–Coimbatore) push car costs up compared with Kerala's shorter routes.

VALUE

₹26,000 – 34,000

3★ hotels, economy flights booked 6+ weeks ahead, standard temple visits without special darshan

COMFORT

₹36,000 – 50,000

4★ hotels, flexible flights, Nilgiri Mountain Railway included, some temple special darshan tickets

PREMIUM

₹55,000 – 80,000

5★ hotels and heritage properties (Bangala in Chettinad, GRT properties, Ooty's Savoy), business-class option, private guided temple tours

Where the money goes

- Flights are 35–45% of the trip: Ahmedabad–Chennai return runs ₹9,000–15,000 booked early; Ahmedabad–Madurai or Trichy (one-stop) runs ₹12,000–20,000 and rises sharply in December.
- Kanyakumari ferry to Vivekananda Rock Memorial: ₹100–150 return per person, weather-dependent and can be suspended in rough seas — always keep a buffer hour.
- Nilgiri Mountain Railway (Ooty–Coonoor): ₹250–500 per person depending on class; book online weeks ahead in April–June and October, as seats sell out.
- Temple special/express darshan tickets (Meenakshi, Ramanathaswamy, Brihadeeswarar): ₹100–500 per person and worth it for seniors to skip the general queue on a festival day.

Travelling with parents and children

- Temple floors are stone and often sun-heated by mid-morning — plan darshans for early morning or after 4 pm, and carry socks for seniors who find bare stone uncomfortable.
- Meenakshi Temple's daily crowds are heaviest 10 am–1 pm and on Fridays (the goddess's special day); go at opening (5 am) or evening for a calmer visit with elders.
- The Kanyakumari–Trichy and Pondicherry–Coimbatore legs are 5–7 hour drives — break them with a planned lunch stop and keep expectations realistic for young children and seniors.
- Rameswaram's 22-theertham ritual bath involves standing under successive buckets of well water poured over you — optional, but popular with groups; carry a change of clothes and a plastic bag for wet ones.

- Ooty's ghat road has continuous hairpin bends for the last hour; seat anyone prone to car sickness in front and time the drive to avoid arriving after dark.
- Book Nilgiri Mountain Railway tickets and Auroville's Matrimandir slot well before travel — both sell out in season and cannot be arranged on arrival.

Questions families ask us

What is the 22 theerthams ritual at Rameswaram?

Inside the Ramanathaswamy Temple complex are 22 wells, each believed to have a different taste and healing property. Pilgrims are led from well to well by temple staff, who draw water and pour it over you in succession — the full ritual takes about 45 minutes and there's a small fee (₹200–300, arranged at the temple). It's optional but done by most visiting families; carry a change of clothes.

Can we really see both sunrise and sunset over water at Kanyakumari?

Yes, most days, since the beach faces both directions. On Chitra Pournami — the full moon of the Tamil month Chithirai, usually in April — the sun sets and the full moon rises almost simultaneously on the same horizon, a special local event that draws large crowds; ask us for the exact date if you want to time a visit around it.

Ooty or Kodaikanal — which should we pick?

Ooty is larger, better connected (via Coimbatore, 85 km) and has the Nilgiri Mountain Railway and more sightseeing variety. Kodaikanal is smaller, quieter, reached via Madurai (120 km, 3–3½ hours) and suits families who want fewer crowds and a simple lake-and-viewpoint stay. If you're already doing the Madurai temple circuit, Kodaikanal fits the route better; if you're routing via Coimbatore/Chennai, Ooty is the natural add-on.

Can we combine Tamil Nadu with Kerala in one trip?

Yes, this is a popular combination for groups with 10+ days. The natural join is Kanyakumari to Kovalam/Thiruvananthapuram (90 km, 2½ hours), so a Tamil Nadu temple trail followed by a short Kerala coastal or hill extension works well. Ask for our combined itinerary rather than booking the two separately, since routing and flights change.

Is the temple dress code strictly enforced?

Yes, more strictly than in most of North India. Shorts, sleeveless tops and short skirts are turned away at the gate at Meenakshi, Ramanathaswamy and Brihadeeswarar. Men in trousers are usually fine, but some inner sanctums ask for a dhoti (available on hire at the entrance). We brief every group on what to wear before the trip and again each morning.

How far in advance should we book?

For December, Margazhi month (mid-December to mid-January) or a group of 8+, book 6–8 weeks ahead — flights and heritage hotels in Thanjavur and Madurai fill early. For other months, 3–4 weeks is usually enough. Ooty and Kodaikanal hotels need extra lead time in the April–June hot-season rush.

Classic Temple Trail

The core Tamil Nadu pilgrimage circuit: Meenakshi, Ramanathaswamy, Kanyakumari's tip-of-India setting, Srirangam and Brihadeeswarar in six nights, ending near Trichy for an easy flight home.

6 nights / 7 days Route: Madurai – Rameswaram – Kanyakumari – Trichy – Thanjavur

From ₹34,000 per person, indicative

Day

1

Arrive and Meenakshi Temple

Fly into Madurai (usually one-stop via Chennai or Bengaluru, landing by early afternoon) and check in. Rest, then head to Meenakshi Amman Temple by 4 pm — the complex is best seen slowly, and evening light on the gopurams is worth the timing. Stay for the palanquin ceremony at 9:30 pm if energy allows; it is the temple's daily highlight.

Stay: Madurai · Meals: Dinner

2

MADURAI

Temple in depth and the old city

Early second visit to Meenakshi Temple (6 am) to see the morning rituals with smaller crowds, then the thousand-pillar hall and Pudhu Mandapam. Late morning at Thirumalai Nayakkar Palace, a 17th-century Indo-Saracenic hall. Afternoon free or a walk through the flower and spice market around the temple; Gujarati thali available in town for dinner.

Stay: Madurai · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

3

MADURAI → RAMESWARAM

Pamban Bridge and Ramanathaswamy

Drive to Rameswaram (170 km, 3½ hours), crossing the Pamban Bridge over the sea — stop for photos. Check in, then Ramanathaswamy Temple in the afternoon: the 22 sacred theerthams ritual bath (temple staff assist, allow 45 minutes), and the 1,200 m pillared corridor. Sunset at the temple-adjacent beach.

Stay: Rameswaram · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

4

RAMESWARAM → KANYAKUMARI

Dhanushkodi and on to the tip of India

Early visit to Dhanushkodi (the abandoned ghost town at India's southeastern tip, 18 km by jeep/shared van from Rameswaram — the last stretch is sand track). Return, then drive to Kanyakumari (240 km, 5–6 hours via Tirunelveli) arriving by evening. Sunset over the sea from the promenade.

Stay: Kanyakumari · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

5

KANYAKUMARI → TRICHY

Sunrise, Vivekananda Rock and drive north

Sunrise on the beach (get there by 6 am) — the meeting point of three seas. Ferry to the Vivekananda Rock Memorial and Thiruvalluvar Statue (ferries run roughly 8 am–4 pm, weather-dependent, ₹100–150 return). Late morning, long drive to Trichy (330 km, 6–7 hours) — this is the longest driving day of the trip; consider splitting with a Madurai overnight if travelling with elders.

Stay: Trichy · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

Day
6

TRICHY / SRIRANGAM / THANJAVUR

Srirangam and Brihadeeswarar

Morning at Srirangam Temple, the largest functioning temple complex in the world — allow 2 hours to walk through its seven concentric enclosures. Then drive to Thanjavur (55 km, 1½ hours) for the Brihadeeswarar Temple, a 1,000-year-old Chola masterpiece; the single-stone 80-tonne cupola atop the 66 m vimana is the thing to see. Return to Trichy for the night.

Stay: Trichy · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

Day
7

TRICHY → AHMEDABAD

Fly home

Trichy airport is 8 km from the city centre. Flights to Ahmedabad are usually one-stop via Chennai or Bengaluru; leave 3 hours before departure.

Stay: — · Meals: Breakfast

Included

- + Domestic flight into Madurai and out of Trichy (Ahmedabad legs quoted separately)
- + 6 nights in inspected 3★/4★ hotels
- + Private AC vehicle for the whole trip
- + Daily breakfast and veg dinner
- + Kanyakumari ferry to Vivekananda Rock
- + Airport pickup and drop

Not included

- Ahmedabad–Madurai and Trichy–Ahmedabad flights
- Lunches
- Temple special/express darshan tickets
- Travel insurance
- GST 5%

STANDARD

₹34,000–40,000

Per person, twin sharing

PREMIUM

₹52,000–65,000

Per person, twin sharing

Per person on twin sharing, indicative for 2026, including domestic connecting flights but not the Ahmedabad sector. December and the Tamil month of Margazhi (mid-Dec–mid-Jan) run 15–20% higher and need earlier temple queue starts.

Hills and Coast

A gentler mix for families who want heritage and coast without a full temple marathon, finishing with three nights of hill relief in Ooty. Fewer long drives, more time in each place.

7 nights / 8 days Route: Chennai – Mahabalipuram – Pondicherry – Coimbatore – Ooty

From ₹42,000 per person, indicative

Day

1

CHENNAI

Arrive Chennai

Direct flight from Ahmedabad lands by early afternoon. Rest, then an easy evening at Marina Beach (the world's second-longest urban beach) and a look at Kapaleeshwarar Temple in Mylapore if energy allows.

Stay: Chennai · Meals: Dinner

2

CHENNAI → MAHABALIPURAM

Shore temples and rock carvings

Drive to Mahabalipuram (55 km, 1½ hours). Full day at the UNESCO site: the Shore Temple facing the Bay of Bengal, Arjuna's Penance (the world's largest bas-relief), the Five Rathas, and Krishna's Butter Ball, a giant boulder that appears to defy gravity. Overnight by the coast.

Stay: Mahabalipuram · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

3

MAHABALIPURAM → PONDICHERRY

Into the French Quarter

Coastal drive to Pondicherry (100 km, 2 hours) along the East Coast Road, with a stop at Auroville's Matrimandir viewing point on the way in. Afternoon walking the French Quarter's tree-lined streets — Rue de la Marine, the Promenade, Notre Dame des Anges. Café culture in the evening.

Stay: Pondicherry · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

4

PONDICHERRY

Auroville and the beaches

Morning at Auroville proper (Matrimandir interior needs advance permission, arrange it beforehand) and the visitor centre. Afternoon free — Paradise Beach by boat, or Sri Aurobindo Ashram for those interested. Relaxed second evening in the French Quarter.

Stay: Pondicherry · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

5

PONDICHERRY → COIMBATORE → OOTY

Climb into the Nilgiris

Fly or drive Pondicherry–Coimbatore (drive is 6–7 hours; flying via Chennai is faster for those short on time), then drive up to Ooty (85 km, 3 hours climbing through 36 hairpin bends past Coonoor). Check in by evening; temperatures drop to 12–15°C.

Stay: Ooty · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

6

OOTY

Nilgiri Mountain Railway and the lake

Ride the UNESCO-listed Nilgiri Mountain Railway toy train from Ooty to Coonoor and back (book weeks ahead, especially April–June and October). Afternoon at Ooty Lake for boating and the Government Botanical Garden. Doddabetta Peak viewpoint if the weather is clear.

Stay: Ooty · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

7

OOTY

Tea estates and a free morning

Visit a working tea factory and estate, and the Rose Garden. Afternoon free for shopping — Ooty's homemade chocolate and eucalyptus oil are the usual buys. Last evening in the hills.

Stay: Ooty · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

Day
8

OOTY → COIMBATORE → AHMEDABAD

Fly home

Drive down to Coimbatore (85 km, 3 hours) for the flight to Ahmedabad, usually one-stop via Chennai, Mumbai or Bengaluru. Leave Ooty by mid-morning to allow for the descent and airport time.

Stay: — · Meals: Breakfast

Included

- + Ahmedabad–Chennai and Coimbatore–Ahmedabad flights
- + 7 nights in inspected 3★/4★ hotels
- + Private AC vehicle for the whole trip (Pondicherry–Coimbatore leg by car or connecting flight, quoted at booking)
- + Daily breakfast and veg dinner

Per person on twin sharing, indicative for 2026, including flights. April–June (Ooty's own peak season) runs 20–25% higher and needs 6–8 weeks' advance hotel booking.

Pilgrimage Express

A compact pilgrimage weekend-plus for families who want the three essential temples and the tip-of-India experience without the longer circuit. Four nights, start and end Madurai.

4 nights / 5 days Route: Madurai – Rameswaram – Kanyakumari

From ₹24,000 per person, indicative

Day

1

MADURAI

Arrive and Meenakshi Temple

Fly into Madurai, check in by early afternoon. Evening at Meenakshi Amman Temple — dress code is strictly enforced (no shorts, no sleeveless; dhoti/mundu available on hire at the entrance for men in trousers). Stay for the 9:30 pm palanquin ritual if the group's energy holds.

Stay: Madurai · Meals: Dinner

2

MADURAI → RAMESWARAM

Pamban Bridge and Ramanathaswamy

Morning drive to Rameswaram (170 km, 3½ hours) over the Pamban Bridge. Afternoon at Ramanathaswamy Temple: the 22 theerthams ritual bath and the long pillared corridor. A short visit to Dhanushkodi's edge before sunset if time allows.

Stay: Rameswaram · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

3

RAMESWARAM → KANYAKUMARI

To the southern tip

Drive to Kanyakumari (240 km, 5–6 hours via Tirunelveli) with a lunch break en route. Evening at the beach for sunset — the meeting point of the Arabian Sea, Bay of Bengal and Indian Ocean.

Stay: Kanyakumari · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

4

KANYAKUMARI → MADURAI

Sunrise, Vivekananda Rock, drive back

Sunrise at 6 am on the beach, then the ferry to Vivekananda Rock Memorial and the Thiruvalluvar Statue. Late morning drive back to Madurai (240 km, 5 hours) — a long final day, so this suits families comfortable with one longer drive; plan a lunch stop at Tirunelveli for its famous halwa.

Stay: Madurai · Meals: Breakfast, Dinner
